SITE SIZE IMPORTANT

Not only is the present high school building an antique and impractical, but its site is too small. If we are to wisely spend our money we must think of the future, and if this is to ready to expand our schools. They should be well constructed and they should be flexible.

The present site will not allow of auto travel it will accentuate a current Warren bottleneck if it is

One of Warren's biggest traffic problems today is at the foot of Market st. and related intersections, such as East and Pennsylvania ave. That problem will increase as the development of the Nelson and Ellberg area continues. There is talk of more action on the 'Island'', and one major building there is in the process of being sold. The traffic problem will multiply without help from a high school

In a borough the size of Warren, much of the social activity of the community will center about your high school building. At the same time there will be night school, shop, and other activity. Room for hundreds of cars will be required.

We do not advocate the use of the Swick property so that picnics may be held or an athletic field be built. room for parking, and room for why some now are so actively push-Movement to the Swick site would any facilities which future years ing that side of the argument. may reveal necessary.

WHO CHOOSES

One idea seems to have been put on new projects. across by other press mediums in this area that is not true. It has been said that the school authorities have By the time we start paying for a be a growing community we must be no decisions to make. The state will new school the Jefferson payments choose our site and will tell us what to do. Not so! But the state must approve our choice if we are to obtain help.

Warren and its jointure companions must choose the site. They must ask for school plans, and they must submit plans and site for approval. It is fairly well established that the state will not approve Memorial field. It will not relish the present site. It will very much approve the Swick site and probably will pay a major share of the cost of an adequate school that is so placed.

The survey team recently in Warren did not come in here to pick a site. Warren has made an application for help in the building of a new school. The survey team came here to study present conditions and to recommend or disapprove that application. If it approves we can proceed to the next step which is to choose a site and to ask for architectural plans. If these are approved we can ask for bids. If those are approved, we can proceed and will receive help.

If we want to remodel the present ceilings, alter some windows, and the West Side have over the mile We do advocate its use so that school, we must submit an entirely call it a school. MONEY

We certainly must face (as the T-M stated) "financial fact that funds misspent at this time could cause a drastic future curtailment by building new and modern schools of sums allocated to our educational program." That is exactly why this paper favors a new high school.

Remodeling the old one would be money poorly spent. We see no financial justification in nailing new ceilings and floors over old ones,

This area is not bankrupt! If are now, according to many of those who buck a new school. If that is so, now is the time to take

We soon will pay off our Jefferson school indebtedness in Warren. will be out of our budget. If the high school is financed in the right way, it may cost us no more than we now are budgeting every year for Jefferson. Certainly not much more, and maybe less.

This we have discussed thoroughly in previous issues. Our regular readers are well aware of the possibilities.

TIME FOR THE TRUTH

It certainly is a poor time for the distortion of facts. The inference that all architects approve the present building suggests either a lack of contact with qualified authorities on the subject or a deliberate effort to mislead.

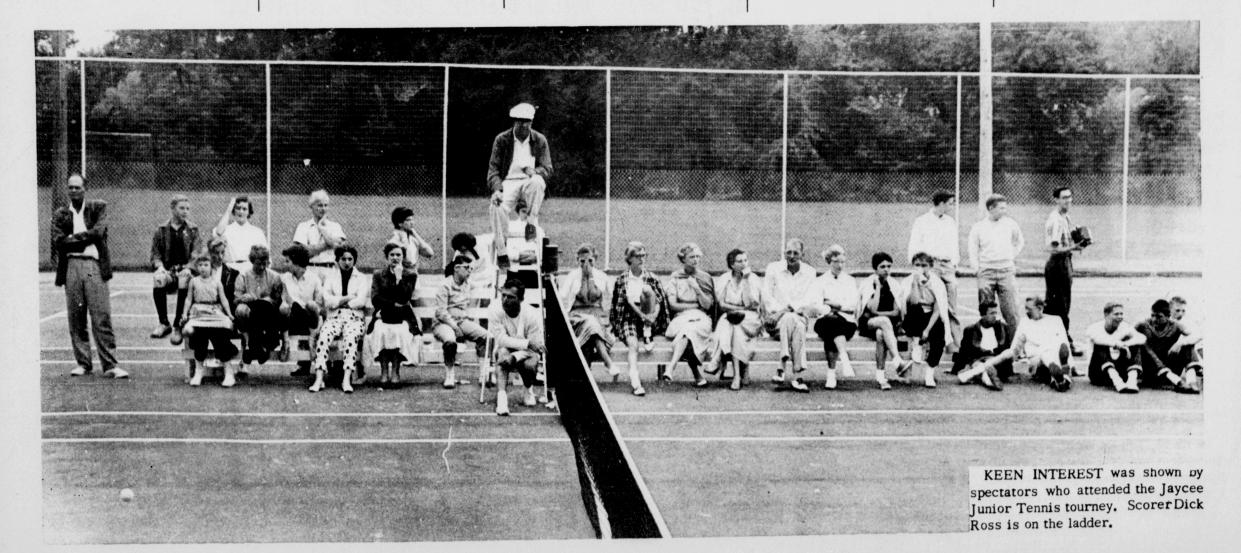

One architect who is highly respected in Warren has said that if he were a member of the Warren board he would consider nothing about the old building worth saving except the walls.

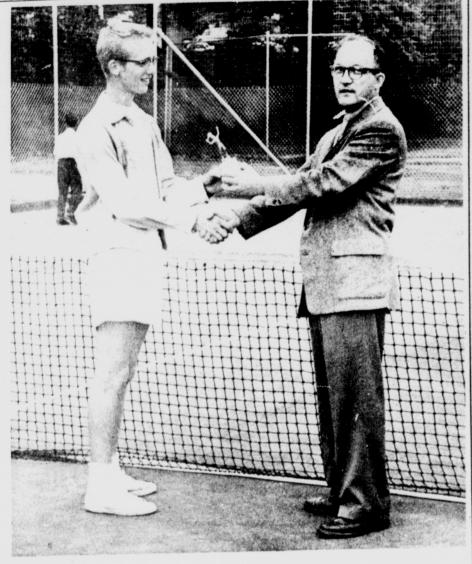

Another has offered his advice and the advice of his firm to any who are opposed to the old building. He believes it is an engineering tragedy even to consider

Another successful firm weighs the advantages and disadvantages, with a preponderance of favor for an entirely new building and site resulting.

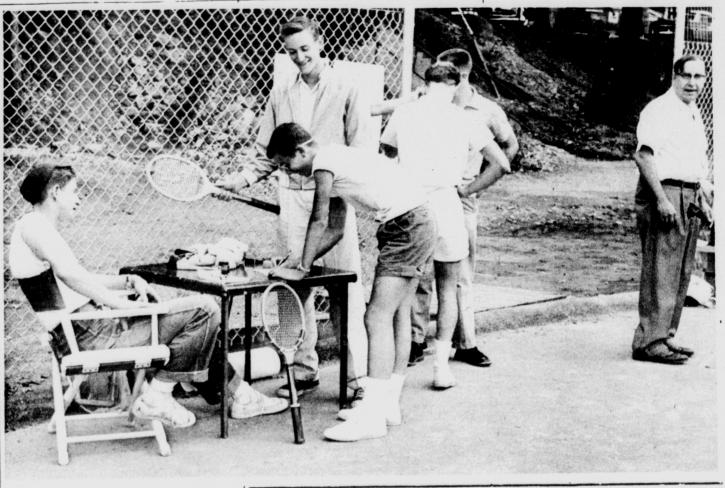

An architect of some national reputation believes there is much long-range saving to be assured or hospitals with an eye to the future. In view of Warren's recent flood problems at the Warren General we easily see his point.

With lives, convenience, and money in the balance, we fail to see how the people of Warren can give this old relic a serious thought.

Obviously, all that is wrong is that we have a dished-out stream at the top and a narrow waterway in Warren. The same applies to Glade Run. Residents are wondering how many more floods the state is waiting for.

I am enormously impressed by anyone who manages to get $1,200,000 in debt to the Federals. comfort and good food. To coin a phrase, today might some day be called the "Paper Age," because paper, as a result of technical improvements in this mid-century, goes every-where and does almost every-thing. Whether you have the butler decked out in a chef's hat turning the steak or whether you lasso dad into grilling the franks after you got the fire going, paper has its place in your picnic budget and plans. Paper on the picnic will save you time, trouble and headaches from the minute you open the picnic basket until pack-up time.

Open Road Beckons

Succumbing to the lure of the open road, mother, only too anxious to escape from her hot kitchen, has only to rely on paper to pack vitamin-filled fruits and salads in waxed paper cartons, wrap the sandwiches in waxed paper, maybe put a hot dish in the thermos box for sharpened appetites, fill the thermos, and jump into the car.

Heavens to Elizabeth, Mother! You almost forgot the best little been a welcome guest at your time savers known to woman at picnic time-paper napkins and all the rest of the paper family. There are paper napkins for everyday neatness and cleanliness, paper cups for hot and cold beverages with handles for secure holds by small nands, paper table covers to dress-up the table, and plastic-coated paper plates for hot or cold food that won't buckle or tip when loaded. That's what your picnic needs to make it gay and carefree.

A summer holiday picnic calls for a Fourth of July theme with white paper napkins printed in red and blue and matching paper cups and plates on a bright red or bright blue table cover. Nothing could be prettier or more exciting than our national colors in a festive setting.

Colorful Settings

For a just-any-old-hot-day picnic, why not cool things off with a pastel picnic for the family? A multi-color table set in pale blue, green and pink on a yellow table cover is different, cool and restful. And it's sure to rouse those down-in-the-dumps summer appetites.

Up to this point, paper has picnic. The end of picnic time, though, is when our gay companion really comes into its own. All mother has to do is have dad repack the thermos bottles, pick up her casserole and whatever non-disposable items you brought and you're done. Then using paper picnic goods to the utmost, just bundle disposable items like paper napkins, plates, cups, containers and sandwich wrappings into the paper table cover and everything is ready for the nearby trash barrel neatly and speedily. The paper goods that have proved a boon to you during the picnic won't be a bane to other picnic lovers with this efficient clean-up system.

ARCHERS BUY TWO

If you want to spear a deer with an arrow you must pay for the pleasure. You need two licenses, the regular hunting license and the special archery license. You can obtain these through the same fellow who sells you a hunting license, but he can't issue it to you. He must send your two dollars and your application to the Department of Revenue, Harrisburg, the only agency empowered to let you twang your bow string in the direction of a buck. . . .

WATERFOWL SEASONS SET

(The Pennsylvania Game Commission releases the following which will be useful if you like a nice duck, or related brothers of the wing.)

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has officially announced Pennsylvania's coming waterfowl hunting seasons, within the state and on bordering waters. The federal authorities approved season dates recommended by the Game Commission.

This fall the duck, goose, coot and brant season will run for 70 days straight, as last year. The dates: October 10 to December 18, inclusive.

Following are the seasons and bag limits for wild waterfowl as declared by the federal agency and adopted by the Commission.

DUCKS. Bag limit: daily, 4; in possession, 8, after the first day. The daily bag limit may include one wood duck. Two wood ducks may be in possession after the first day, and one hooded merganser, daily or in possession, as part of the total bag. American and red-breasted mergansers also are to be included in the bag limits for other ducks this year.

GEESE. (except snow geese). Daily bag 2; possession limit 4

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Court of Common Pleas of Warren County, Pennsylvania, will hear the Petition of the Commissioners of Warren County, filed to No. 9 November Term, 1956, for permission to sell a lot of land on Locust Street in the Ninth Ward of Warren Borough, Warren County, Pennsylvania, particularly described in the records of Warren County in Deed Book 202, page 73, on Thursday, September 27, 1956, at 10:00 a. m., EDT.

President Has Rough Road Ahead

By Marquis Childs

SAN FRANCISCO. -- With his nomination for a second term, President Eisenhower enters a new phase of his extraordinary career. Occupying a position as hero-statesman that few of his countrymen have enjoyed, at the peak of his popularity and prestige, he now has put his reputation in the balance of a second election and, beyond that, if he is the winner, on the hazards of another four years in the most difficult office in the world.

He has for long been fortune's Eisenhower luck favored child. has seen him through mishaps and misadventures that would have blighted less fortunate men. It seems -- this luck -- to be a part of his temperament; an element in the buoyant, confident, persuasive nature of the Army officer who golf course at Augusta. has moved in a few crowded years from obscurity to become one of the half-dozen leaders of a world in crisis.

The President has set himself the mission, as he put it in his acceptance speech, of bridging the great chasm separating the Communist and non-Communist spheres. This will be his appeal in the campaign to come and a powerful appeal it is. It is also why in the farthest corners of the earth the Eisenhower name invokes the hope that the catastrophe of nuclear war can be avoided and the new forces unleashed by science can be used to create unparalleled well-being everywhere.

But building the bridge -- only a preliminary survey of the plans was achieved in the first Eisen-

It means breaking through the easy slogans, the rhetoric, going against the popular American illusion that we can have everything our own way while Soviet communism conveniently crumbles into impotence from its own inner weak-

Last September in Denver on the third day after the President's heart attack, when it was apparent hewould recover, one of his closest friends remarked that this seemed to be another, and perhaps the greatest, piece of Eisenhower luck. The President's inclination had always been to serve one term and he now had a valid reason to say no to the mounting pressures to run again. He could leave the White House at the top of his stride and no one could blame him for disasters to come. This was an honorable reason for comfortable retirement at Gettysburg and on the

The pressures were, however, too great. If it had been his deepest desire, which it was not, the President would have found it hard to say no. Even a second serious illness in June, with a major operation, left him still the inevitable who could hope to win the independ-

San Francisco, at his press conference and in his acceptance speech, Eisenhower looked like a well and vigorous man. The fact remains, however, that on October 14 he will be 66 years old, and if he is inaugurated in January he will be the oldest President ever to take the oath of office with the exception of William Henry Harrison, who died three months after

The political hazards are less evident but nevertheless real.

The Republicans have lost steadily in virtually every election at every political level since 1952. In state, county and city government the Democrats gained strength in almost every section of the country. Even in rock-ribbed Republican Maine a Democratic governor, Edmund Muskie, was elected in 1954 and there seems a good choice of a party with no one else chance he will be re-elected in the election next month, with the Democrats also likely to capture one of Maine's congressional seats.

State reimbursements totalling nearly $71,000 were reported when the Warren Borough District school board met August 22.

The board received $65,330 toward repayment of costs of the new Jefferson school and the Beaty addition. The state also paid $5, 116 for its share of the costs for school nurses, $545 for transportation and $72 for the school milk,

In other action the school leaders selected the Warren Bank and Trust Company to set up a trust fund for monies restricted in use. This includes the Dr. Elizabeth Expenditures approved were $409, athletic supplies; $290, electric piano; $58, dental supplies; $528, instructional supplies; $991, hardware; $98, piano tuning.

The board also approved payment of $4,099 for playground supervision costs during July.

Miss Alta Vogle was named as a substitute for Miss Joan Kondak, who has been given a year's leave of absence. Mrs. Clementine Carlson is also taking a leave of absence and will be replaced temporarily by Mrs. Avonell Tourtel-

TOO MODERN. If you insist on visiting these centennials and sesqui-centennials that are sprouting out about us, dress accordingly. Patty Giancotti, Observer writer of Things To Come, forgot it was 1806 in Tidioute. For being so modern she was clamped into the stocks. A sad case.

AMBULANCE SERVICE in Warren will be handled by Erie Ambulance Service, Inc., if Ralph Hawkins, general manager, can sell the idea by way of a dinner at the Blue and White restaurant next Thursday. He is inviting all who might have something to say about such a service, and apparently expects financial help from borough council even though he will be operating it as a profit-making ven-

Though funeral directors, who want to give up the service, prefer to terminate such a service on September 1, the Erie outfit will not be ready to take over until the first of the year. And though the funeral directors had hoped to keep their wheel chair service, long hauls, oxygen and similar sidelines, the Erie group wants all of it.

It seems to this writer that Warren is not deciding what is the best and working to have that best. Instead we seem to be looking for the easy way out.

NURSES AIDES NEEDED

Twenty additional nurses aides are needed by the Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross which hopes to train that number for emergencies and Warren General hospital service. There now are twenty-three.

Applicants must be between 18 and 50, have a high school education or its equivalent, and must pass a physical examination.

Training consists of eighty course hours, including thirty-four hours of class room instruction, six hours of Red Cross activities orientation, and forty hours of supervised practice in the hospital.

Aides must contribute 150 hours of service each year through the Red Cross, either at the hospital, the blood bank program, or community health work.

MAY REDUCE TRAIN SERVICE

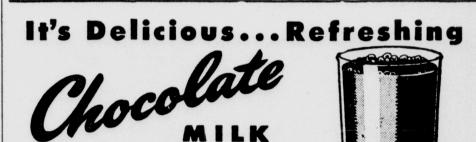

The next step in the gradual reduction of railroad passenger service in this area is set for September 8. Starting on that date, sleeping cars will go only as far as Philadelphia. Going or coming you will have to change trains in Philadelphia. The Warren Chamber of Commerce wants as many complaints as possible. Write the Chamber or write directly to the railroad's Buffalo office.

Today you can take a train from Warren at 7:30 p. m. and arrive in New York at 8:05 a.m. Under the new set-up you will arrive in Philadelphia at 6:15 a. m., and then you will be on your own.

MORE LIKE IT

The nicest thing about "The King and I" was the seats. The Library theatre is installing those new ones they talked about weeks ago. The springs are covered and there is leg room. Those going and coming can walk on their own feet when they pass you. In fact some of those old seats were so close that the exiting customers looked as though they were playing singing chairs with every lap.

The show was good, too. Deborah Kerr sings through the most in-In between the school days and on viting lips. And Yul Brynner was encouraging. A few less hairs and we'll be with him.

Special Match Race At Speedway Sunday

An eight-lap trophy match race between the six leading drivers in the circuit championship point race will be presented at Skyline Speedway this Sunday evening. Starting time at the track is 8:30 p. m.

The special attraction will top a full eight-event program that also includes a 25-lap race of late model stocks.

Sunday's match race will put together drivers from the Olean Raceway, McKean County Fairground and the Sugar Grove oval. Squirt Johns, Brockway speedster who currently holds second place in points at Skyline, is top man in the circuit list. Jim Patrick is in the runnerup position.

JOHNNY WALKER, Sinclairville, N. Y., barely missed rolling his '54 Merc after a spectacular spinout at Skyline.

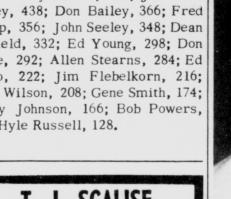

A TROPHY AND KISS for Ted Wise, of Sharon, after he won the inaugural modified race at the speedway.

MAGAZINE MERGER VIOLATES LAW

The Federal Trade Commission has ruled that the June 1955 acquisition by Farm Journal, Inc., of the Curtis publication, Country Gentlemen-Better Farming violates the anti-merger law.

The Commission ordered Farm Journal to divest itself of the names "Better Farming" and "Country Gentleman," of the domestic subscription list of the acquired magazine, and of the list of Country Gentleman advertisers.

The Commission set January 1, 1957, as the date by which Farm Journal must file a report of compliance with the order.

In the initial decision, which was adopted by the Commission, Hearing Examiner Frank Hier scored the "inadequacy and ineffectiveness" of the anti-merger law, Sec. 7 of the Clayton Act, and declared per week. that the order "at most may only disturb, but will not diffuse the coalescence which has taken place."

UNLAWFUL ALLOWANCES

The Federal Trade Commission today charged nine major grocery producers with having given unlawful promotional allowances to favored customers indirectly through the major radio and TV networks.

The Commission, in similar complaints, charged the producers with paying the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System, and American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc. (ABC), for radio or television time given by the networks to favored grocery chains without charge.

Act (an amendment to the Clayton 6-9-55, $99,018. Act) requires that, if promotional available to all customers "on pro- $191,930. portionally equal terms."

The NBC plan is called "Chain Lightning," and free time for the chains is valued at from $100 to approximately $6,600 firm sells shoes mainly through ABC introduced a "Mass Merchandising" plan for TV in 1952 and a "Radiodizing" plan in 1955. The value of the free time for chains ranged from $750 per week to approximately $9,500.

Examples of the amounts paid to the networks by the nine manufacturers under these plans are as follows:

SELLING USED OIL

Mohawk Refining Corp., 472 Frelinghuysen Ave., Newark, N.J., was charged today by the Federal Trade Commission with selling reclaimed used motor oil as a new product.

The company sells this oil separately or blended with new oil, a Commission complaint states, under the trade names: "Mohawk Oil,'' ''Mohawk Chieftain Oil,' "Tomahawk High Speed Motor Oil," and "Solar Power Oil."

This oil, the complaint continues, which is reclaimed from motor crankcases and other sources, is sold in the same type containers

SAN FRANCISCO. -- Both the national conventions were a success from the point of view of the politicians who ran them. The party managers got the tickets in each case they thought were their strongest. The platform struggles were milk runs compared to many former years.

There are no left-over feuds to bother the candidates. Long before the final gavels, it was clear that Harry S. Truman had mistaken prestige and popularity for power and that Harold Stassen spoke for latent anti-Nixon fears among Eisenhower supporters far from strong enough to cope with the tightly held Republican state organizations.

Democrats gave the public a sporting convention with a photofinish end. Republicans had to spin out a coronation over four days which were for the most part dull. The TV columnists are warning them that they bored their national audience, which is something for them to consider in connection with their plans to let President Eisenhower campaign only on TV.

Confident on arrival, Republicans left here in a golden glow of optimism. For nearly a year they had seen little of the President; his apparently ruddy health and the vigor with which he spoke and behaved completely reassured them. At all times he was completely successful.

Already Republican newspapers are starting to beat warning drums against complacency, and that was Chairman Hall's post-convention theme.

In these quarters the vitality and verve of the Democrats at Chicago made a deep impression. So did the wealth of new talent they displayed at every turn. This talent was not just present; it was seen in action, handling caucuses, making statements, and visiting delegations.

In short, such men as Senators Gore, Humphrey, Kennedy and Monroney; Mayor Wagner and Governors Leader, Mayner, Ribicoff and Williams were shown politicking in the most blithe and sure-footed manner. They helped materially to reduce Truman to the rank he hates -- elder statesman. More important, they inspired in their own party the belief, that come what may next November, the Democrats are going to be in business in a big way for a long, long time.

Vermont Royster of The Wall Street Journal put it that Democrats ran a convention; Republicans played follow-the-leader.

That the President himself whose mittical intuitions are first rate -- perceived the contrast was shown by the emphasis on the future he put in his acceptance speech. For the fact is that almost nothing was heard here about the Republican party as such; instead delegates talked about Ike, Nixon, Harold Stassen and Democrats.

Republican leaders privately concede that their party rebuilding has a long way to go. They genuinely expect an Eisenhower victory which will give them four more years to catch up to the opposition. They don't even want to discuss what might happen if there is another 1948 upset.

The public is said at this point to be apathetic toward the campaign. It will not be for want of trying if these two parties don't force themselves on voter atten-

Dure Dleasure For The Whole Family

BUGLER ELMHURST attracted the interest of several younger boys at the "Y" Adventure club's Retreat camp recently. The unusual appearance of the boy's head at the upper right was caused by camouflage apparel.

SECOND BEST in the girls division of the Jaycee Junior Tennis tourney was Sally Scalise. A trophy to her from Robert Geiger, head of the sponsoring organization.

WAITING CONTENDERS in the Jr. Tennis tournament picked up pointers as they watched competitors between matches.

A PATHFINDER HIKE was taken by "Y" boys Friday, August 17, at the Adventure Club's Retreat camp. The lads tried to find trails made by advance scouts.

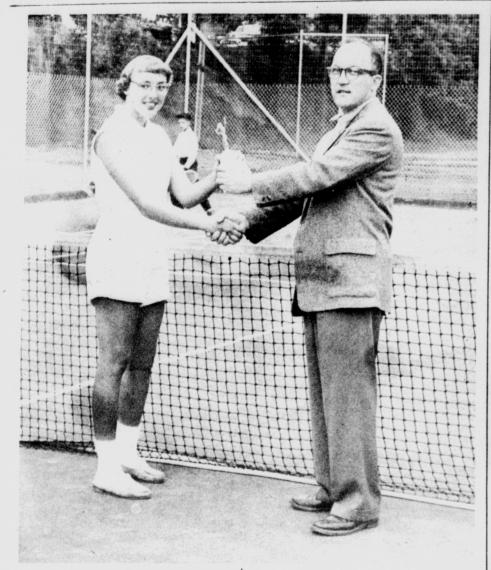

INSTRUCTOR ROBERT GORSUCH, right, was at the YMCA Retreat camp August 19 to give special riflery lessons to the boys.

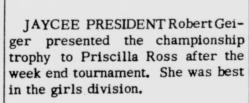

BILL MONIAK, of Youngsville, clouted a triple in the Warren Elks' 10-4 loss to the Starlite Bombers at Jamestown last week.

GOOD FOOD was in abundance at the "Y" Retreat camp. Responsible for the meals were Mrs. Howard VanOrsdale and Mrs. Blain Mineweaser.

KING NEPTUNE playing like King of the Mountain was a favorite game for Adventure Club members at their Retreat camp recently.

Nineteen boys, four leaders and two cooks spent August 15-19 at the Howard VanOrsdale camp at Cable Hollow. BUY or SELL
